

God's Little Princess

Written and Illustrated by

Mary Leonard

Dedicated – to all children waiting for truth.

And to my Granddaughter Acelynn.

Text and Written Copyright 2013 & 2014©

Mariahsachin™

Website: www.MariahSaChin.com

Published by Where the Lines Blur

Once upon a time there was a little princess who lived in heaven. God came to her. She sat on his lap. God said, "It is time for you to live on Earth for awhile. I have a mission for you." She was so excited.

She asked, "What would you have me do on Earth?" God said, "Live in the New Covent, to be of service to the kingdom and worship me by loving all and living in gratitude. This mission will not be easy." She replied, "I am ready Father God."

She was given a Special Treasure Box with all the tools, talents and gifts she would need. It would open when she needed it for her mission.

It was time! The Stars were all lined up! The breath of Spirit blown into her was the first gift. She arrived on Earth.

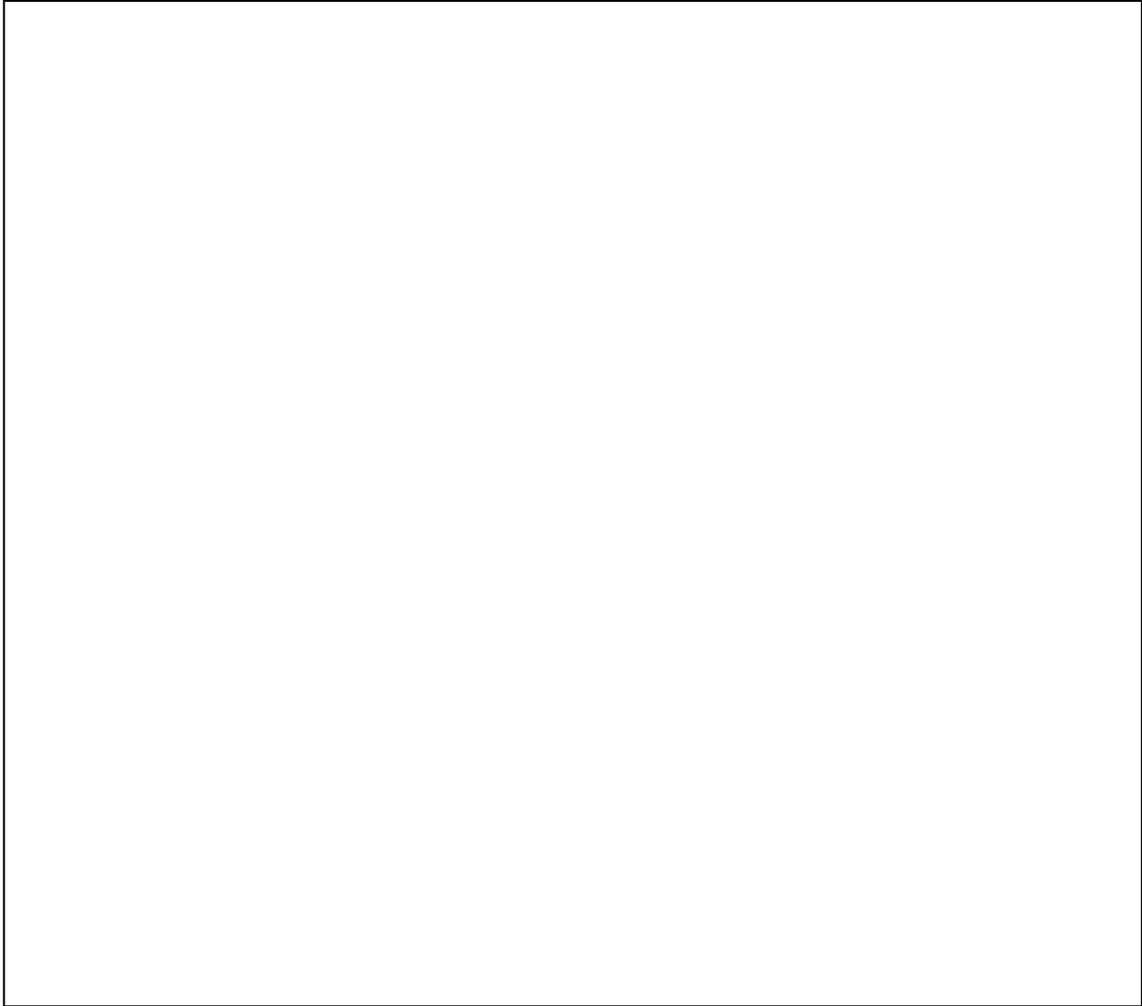

All came to see the new princess. They said this princess has many special gifts. We must watch her.

Life was good but she remembered the warning about the prince of earth so she watched and watched. She was great in service to all. She brought great honor to all in the kingdom.

On her 12th birthday she picked up her treasure box and it suddenly opened. How surprised and pleased she was. Her mission was calling. Her heart mind and soul were on fire with anticipation of her mission. She readied herself.

She put on the belt, the helmet, the armor and breastplate.
She put on the shoes and the shield. She welded her sword and remembered her makers plan.

She looked around with new eyes. She caught a glimpse of her protector and she was very grateful and thanked God. She sang her song with a dance and feather.

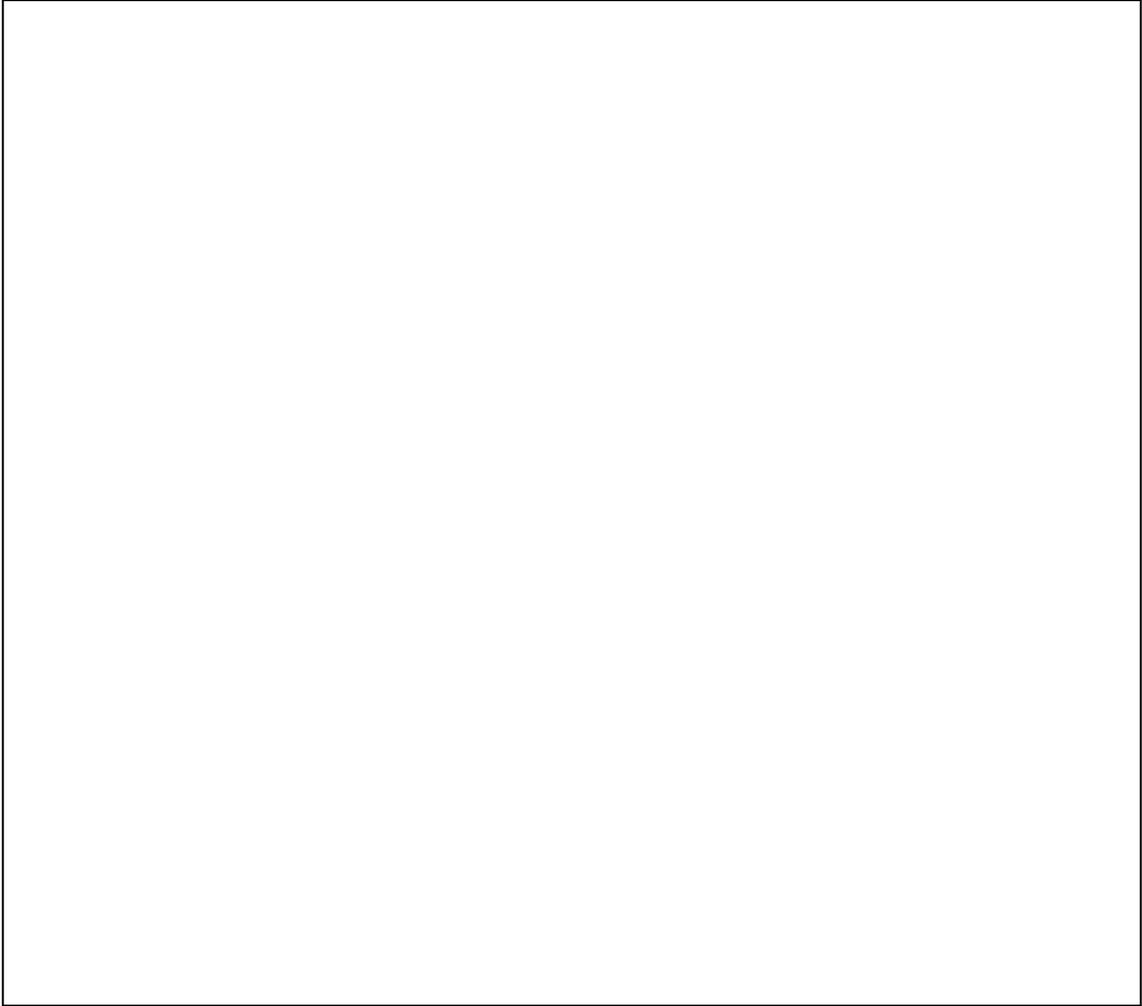

She opened her heart and her eyes and realized that the prince of earth was all around her. He was underfoot, in distractions, in disease but, mostly in disguise!

She could see clearly now and so she was ready.

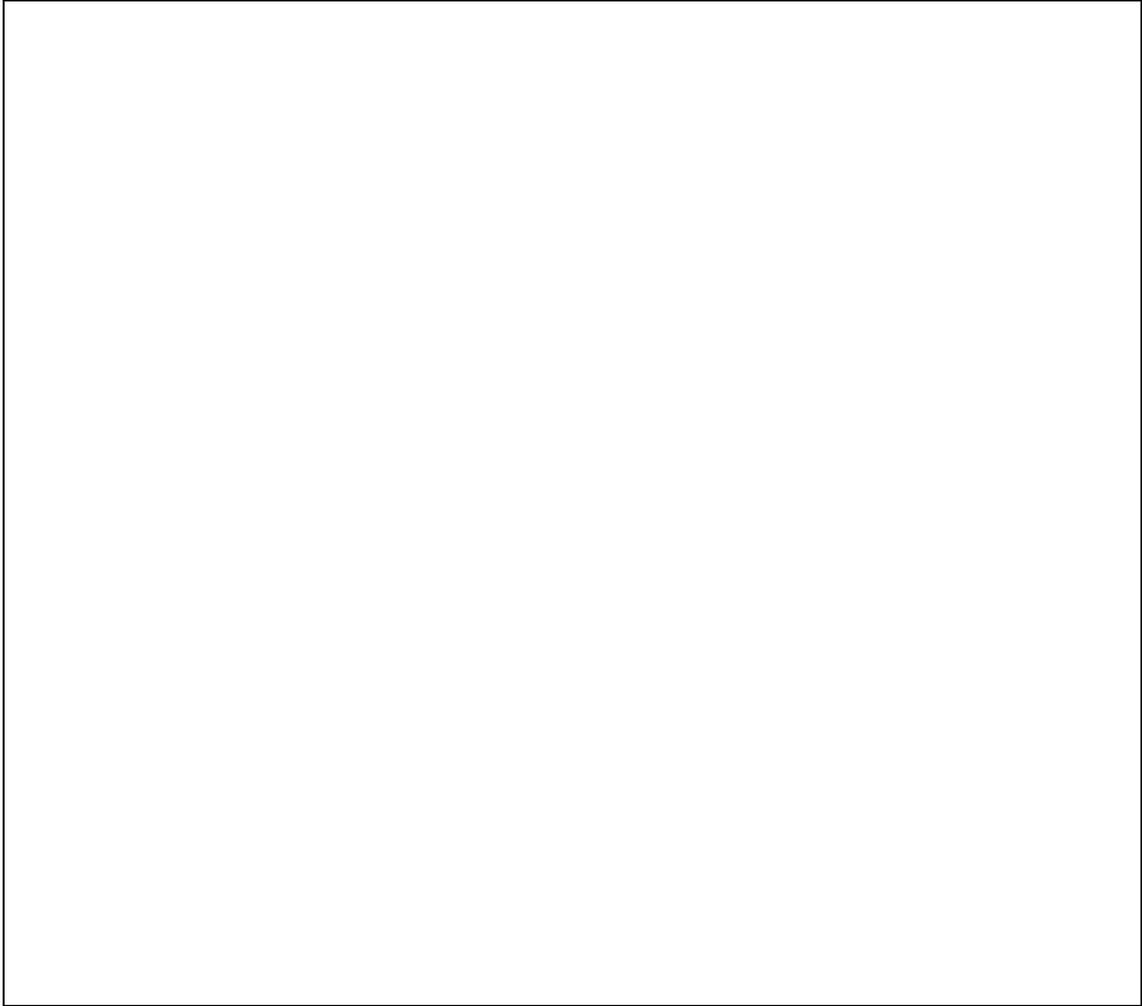

She started up the first of seven mountains to fulfill her mission. Each was higher than the other. The first mountain was about learning who she is. She found her identity as the Daughter of the Most High God.

The second mountain was to find truth in all. But she was lonely. God gave her friends, eight of them. They walked up the mountain and talk about all the goodness and truth they saw. They were each enjoying the fellowship.

When she got to the third mountain to get organized and learned the lessons of creating. She became a painter and brought great honor to the kingdom by worshiping God through her painting. People from all the land came to buy the paintings and learn to worship with her.

When she got to the fourth mountain she was weary and felt surely her could not make it not one more step. When out popped her Father's picture and she remember he said she could always call on him. He walked her up the fourth mountain of respecting family. He taught her about the time when she would mate and have a child to love of her own. She thanked him for the help.

Now on the fifth mountain she was still looking out for the prince of earth. On her way she began to create and make things with the material world and it pleased her and she was grateful. There were so many things that she made it was almost too much!

On the sixth mountain she found the prince of earth and he said, "Who do you think you are? You cannot pass." But she said, "I am the Daughter of the Most High Father." She waved her sword of the Spirit and he was banished from the land. Through her defeating the prince of earth, living with the Price of Peace within her was possible.

She landed at the foot of the 7th mountain and praised and worshiped her Father. She saw the most beautiful eagle come. She climbed on his back and he flew her to the top of the mountain.

When she saw the top, it glowed with the glory of God.
Climbing down to her feet were diamonds and rubies and emerald with pearls scattered everywhere. She lay down and started to glow with God's glory.

She was so peaceful with a peace that was beyond explanation. She stayed and lived the rest of her days in joy, communion and gratitude with her Father on the top of the last mountain.

The fire of glory inside her and a personal relationship with her Father God now, she glowed bright and painted with unlimited joy. She was so joyful with love and praise, her open heart to the Father's Heart she served the kingdom as a living prayer at all times.

There she met her mate and raised her child on the top of the mountain with the diamond, rubies, emeralds and pearls.

Many from the kingdom followed her and did as she did. Her mission was complete. Then she returned home to his heaven and glowed like a star for an eternity.

The End!

Cover Front

Cover Back

